

Accumulating Snow Expected Tonight into Friday Morning

New York, NY
WEATHER FORECAST OFFICE

OVERVIEW

- Low pressure will pass to our south and east, bringing an accumulating snow to the area late tonight into Friday morning.

TIMING AND IMPACTS

Accumulating Snowfall Expected Tonight into Friday Morning:

- Orange/Putnam: 2-4 inches.
- NYC/NE NJ/Rockland and Westchester: 3-5 inches.
- Long Island/Southern CT: 4-6 inches.

Impacts –Snowfall rates could exceed 1 inch per hour for a period, with the best chances for locations east of NYC. This will result in snow covered roads and hazardous travel during the Friday morning commute.

NWS ALERTS

Winter Weather Advisory for the entire region from 12am Friday until 12pm Friday.

FORECAST CHALLENGES

- A weaker and/or farther offshore low would result in lighter snow accumulations, with a stronger and/or closer to the coast track increasing the potential for greater accumulation (especially for northern and northwestern sections).
- Locally higher snowfall amounts will be possible if any heavy snowbands develop.

NEXT BRIEF

- By 6 PM Thursday evening.
